RECONNOISSANCES TOWARD LEESBURG.

REPORTS FROM RICHMOND.

Serious Charges Against Hospital Officers.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribune.

Washington, Thursday, Sept. 13, 1362. THE BATTLES IN MARYLAND. So far as known here there has been no fighting to day on the Upper Potomac; certainly nothing like a renewal of yesterday's battle. No dispatches from its close; the Government, like the public, is obliged who was upon the field from the beginning to the close of the action. All that is really known about the battle here is derived from that dispatch. REPORTS ABOUT JACKSON.

A report found credence in Rebel circles this mort ing, and among the more apprehensive loyalists, to the effect that Stonewall Jackson had not been engaged in the fight near Sharpsburg at all, but had remained on the Virginia side of the Potonisc, and was crossing to-day at Nolan's Ferry, with the view either of attacking Gen. McClellan in the rear, or of moving upon Washington, which he hoped to find ungarrisoned.

There is no confirmation of this report, and it is disbelieved altogether, or regarded as premature, at glers arrested by his guards to the convalescent camp all events. That the enemy may attempt such a movement is not considered improbable, however, if from Georgetown, and this forenoon about 350. he be not pushed to the river, and pushed into the river, and pushed over the river, and destroyed by the army which got the better of him yesterday and is resting to-day.
